Residents receive mobile medical unit

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

About 400 Glades-area residents gathered at the Glades Central Community High School Feb. 1 for the dedication and unveiling of the newest form of health care on wheels. Residents in our area will no longer have to share a mobile clinic with the communities on the coast.

Elementary school children in Belle Glade named the mobile medical unit "Sugarland Express The Doctor Bus", and now low-income Glades families have easier access to health care.

The $154,000 medical unit takes the place of a similar but older unit that was once only available to Glades residents twice a week being that it was shared with other communities in Palm Beach County.

The public health unit contributed $34,000 for the medical unit and the Glades Community Development Corporation contributed the remaining $120,000 which was received through donations. According to Executive Director of GDCD Tony McCray, "These people (Glades-area residents) haven't been getting health care and we want to make sure they do."

Immunizations will be offered on the medical bus as well as blood pressure checks and physical exams. Testing will also be done for tuberculosis, sickle-cell anemia, sexually-transmitted diseases and

HIV. Manning the unit will be staff provided by the Palm Beach County Public Health Unit.

The medical unit is equipped with a built-in microwave, ice dispenser, and two refrigerators, one which will hold blood samples of patients. The unit also features a hydraulic lift for residents who can't get up the steps for some reason.

The unit will be located at various locations throughout the Glades and hours of operation are Monday and Tuesday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., and Wednesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.

"It took a lot of initiative for this organization (GDCD) to spend $120,000 and we're pretty proud of it," said Mr. McCray.

Pahokee holds 44th Annual Awards Banquet

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

After hours of decision making, the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce presented its 44th Annual Membership Meeting and Awards Banquet Friday evening. The yearly banquet was held at the United Methodist Church in Pahokee and the citizens came to show their support and love for their city.

Signs of warmth and love filled the hall of the church as pink and red Valentines decorated the room and the tables.

When guests arrived for the event, they were seated at comfortable tables which contained fresh fruit salads and different variations of prize-winning desserts.

Dinner prizes were presented while attendees waited to be served. The highlighted door prize, an autographed Super-Bowl football by Pahokee's Rickey Jackson, was presented to Ted Gallo.

The meal for the banquet was prepared by the United Methodist Men and the United Methodist Women, and Larry Wright was the chef for the evening.

The menu included seasoned green beans, fresh bread selections, prime rib, chef's creamed potatoes, and tea or coffee.

Members of the Glades Day School National Honor Society acted as servers.

Out-going chamber president, Steve Baumgartner, passed the gavel to the new chamber president, Jim Brewer. Mr. Brewer said he was interested in the growth of the city and vowed to assist the citizens in the community to help promote the city and to help the city grow.

The highlight of the evening was the honoring of different members of the community and the presentation of awards. Father John Mericantante of St. Mary Catholic Church was awarded the Citizen of the Year Award. Dr. Phil Provenza presented Father Mericantante with the award but not until he gave his views on the man. Dr. Provenza shared with the group the fact that he has witnessed Father Mericantante actively seek shelter and housing for homeless citizens. He said Father Mericantante also played an important role in the Grassy Waters Festival. With the announcement of the Citizen of the Year, those in attendance stood to give the Pahokee leader an ovation that was to be remembered. Father Mericantante accepted his award and thanked Dr. Provenza for his remarks.

The banquet also honored other groups and organizations in the community.

Pahokee votes "no" to extended commission terms

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Pahokee voters participated in a special election Tuesday to vote whether they wanted to extend the terms of those representing their city from two years to four years. Surprisingly, the voters opted to keep the terms as they presently are.

City commissioners asked that a special election be held to increase the term limits because they felt that a two-year term was not enough time to accomplish what they want to do."

Television weather forecasting has changed through the years

By Mike Lyons

Why do you watch a local television newscast? One would assume that the obvious answer is to find out what's going on in your area. According to television research firms the assumption is correct. Most people tune into a newscast to get the latest news.

Once folks are brought up to speed on the news, I am happy to report that the second reason most people watch a television newscast is the weather. "That's not surprising to me," said Robert Henson. "Television weather is a true American tradition."

Mr. Henson should know. He's the author of The History of Weathercasting, 50 Years of TV Weather. "The television weather forecaster is quite unique," Mr. Henson said. "He's a scientist, a humorist, town crier when the weather turns severe and a communicator. No other job combines all of these characteristics."

Jimmy Fiddler was the first person to possess all of those characteristics. "Mr. Fiddler is the father of television weathercasting," Mr. Henson said.

"He started it all in Muncie, Ind. back in 1934. Even though he didn't have weather satellites, Doppler radar or sophisticated computers, (his weather maps were delivered by street car) Mr. Fiddler promised 'the latest forecast with complete correct information.'"

"Mr. Fiddler went on to become the first weather forecaster for NBC's Today show in 1952," Mr. Henson said. "He worked for the National Weather Service for awhile and today lives in Texas."

Another pioneer in television weather forecasting was Louis Allen. "In 1948, Mr. Allen became the first weatherman to actually draw on his map during the broadcast," Mr. Henson said. Mr. Allen drew large H's and L's to designate areas of high and low pressure. It was a revolutionary idea back then but something we take for granted today."

At the same time, weather forecaster Fred Woods in Oklahoma City used cartoons to illustrate what type of weather was headed his way. Today, those drawings are said to be worth a few bucks. Mr. Woods has had some of his weather art in several museums," Mr. Henson said.

The 1950's saw a dramatic change in the way weather forecasts were presented on television. "It was the decade of the weather girl," Mr. Henson said. "TV stations started hiring fashion models to present the weather."

Mr. Henson said his favorite example is Tippy Stryker. "Tippy worked for a TV station in Washington, D.C. in the early 50's," Mr. Henson said. "She would tell you the weather while also describing her outfit for the night. In addition, she had a nightclub act at a local hotel."

Some former weather girls, however, went on to bigger and better things. Actress Raquel Welch did the weather for a TV station in San Diego. ABC newscaster Diane Sawyer once told the folks in Louisville if it was going to rain tomorrow.

The decade of the 60's brought out the weird and the wacky. Mr. Henson said weather forecasters tried to outdo themselves with all kinds of stunts. "They presented the weather with animals, standing on their heads and from dunk tanks," Mr. Henson said.

Since the 70's, however, Mr. Henson says weather has been presented in a more professional manner. "There's still room for humor in today's TV weather show," Mr. Henson said. "But, when the weather turns nasty viewers want the information not jokes."

Mr. Henson thinks the next 50 years of TV weather will bring more advances in technology and graphics. And, even more interested in the weather forecast. "Weather binds us all," he said. "It is the one constant in this world. And, we all want to know what the weather will be tomorrow."

Mike Lyons is the weatherman for WPBF, Channel 25.

saying? Hopefully not. But, you may be related to someone or work with a co-worker who suffers from manic depression.

This illness, also known as Bi-Polar Disorder, affects more than two million Americans annually, with most people experiencing their first episode before age 35. The incidence is somewhat higher in women than men.

The disease manifests itself in two distinct phases, mania and depression. In the manic phase they are euphoric, grandiose and have seemingly unlimited energy, (bordering on hyperactivity), overinvolvement in life activities, low irritability thresholds, flight of ideas, easy distractibility, and little need for sleep.

I once made the mistake of shopping with a friend of mine, not knowing that she was in her manic phase. I just couldn't run fast enough to catch up with her, and when we entered Wal-Mart I knew my legs wouldn't last much longer! I thought there was something seriously wrong with me, that I didn't share her enthusiasm of life.

Activities may occur during the manic phase that are later regretted, i.e., excessive spending, resignation from a job, a hasty marriage, sexual acting out, and exhibitionistic behavior, with alienation of friends and family.

The depressive state they encounter includes serious mood depression, loss of interest and pleasure, withdrawal from activities, and feelings of worthlessness, and loss of sexual drive.

The American Psychiatric Association recently released a 36 page set of guidelines that emphasize long-term management by a psychiatrist in addition to the use of mood-stabilizing drugs. The guidelines took a nine member team of psychiatrists 2 years to develop and include the results of a comprehensive review of current treatments and contemporary research.

Lithium has long been the "drug of choice" for management of this disease and is used in conjunction with psychotherapy that helps patients minimize stress and assists families in coping with the disorder. It is a life-style illness with a lot of denial involved.

Until next time... stay informed and stay healthy.

Paula Swaford, R.N. is the administrator of First American Home Care of Belle Glade.

Do something for Pahokee

I hope you print this for me. I would like to take this time to voice my opinion on this situation.

It's a shame that we, the people in Pahokee, do not have a decent place to sit down and eat or a shopping plaza to go shopping, or a movie theatre to go look at a movie.

There's not even a place for you to go out dancing. The young people have nowhere to go. They have to stand around on the street corners.

That's why a lot of young people turn to drugs, alcohol or start selling drugs. They see older people doing this, thinking that's just easy money and they would like to try this.

Maybe if they had a teen spot, a movie theater or a shopping plaza, they wouldn't be standing around. Everywhere they find to hand out, you condemn it.

Do something for the young black people in Pahokee.

Also, what about Black History Month in Pahokee?

Bus drivers

I'm calling about school bus drivers in our area. Today, Tuesday, Jan. 31, on Avenue E, Belle Glade, a school bus driver pulled out into oncoming traffic.

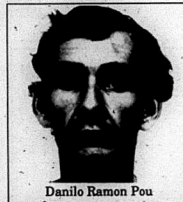

Half-way into the street, he put on his stop sign and before he or she could get straight into the street two cars and one pick-up truck came very close to wrecking.

We trust these drivers with school children, but today I would call that bus driver an unsafe bus driver.

I did not get the bus number. I was too busy trying to keep from having a wreck because of that driver pulling out in front of us like no cars were in sight.

Free information available on how to choose a college

With competition for good jobs rising, millions of Americans are concerned about how to prepare their children for college and how to pay for it.

An updated edition of the U.S. Education Department publication, Preparing Your Child for College: A Resource Book for Parents, provides answers to some important questions: What high school courses are needed for college? What factors are important in selecting a college? How much does college cost and how can students and their families obtain financial help?

The release of the publication coincides with the announcement of President Clinton's new education and training initiative, the "Middle-Class Bill of Rights," which calls for:

- * tax deductions of up to $10,000 a year for post secondary expenses;
- * "Skill grants" to help employees pursue job-related education and training;
- * tax-free withdrawals from Individual Retirement Accounts for educational and medical expenses, as well as first-home purchases or care of elderly parents; and,
- * tax credits of up to $500 a year for each child under age 13.

The new second edition of Preparing Your Child for College offers long-range planning tips on academic preparation for students and financial planning for parents.

The handbook discusses the benefits of a college education and offers a work sheet to help students determine their career interests and courses of study needed. Preparing Your Child for College is available free by writing Consumer Information Center, Department 510B, Pueblo, Colo. 81009, or by calling 1-800-USA-LEARN.

Ask Dr. Boltson

Dr. David Boltson is the associate director of the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic in Belle Glade, and is a licensed psychologist in private practice in Lake Worth.

She went on to earn a bachelor's degree from Bishop College in Texas, but has since returned home to the Glades where she has lived since the late '70s.

She has worked for many Glades social service agencies including the Community Action Council, CEFA, West County Mental Health, and the Sunset Heights Nursing Home. Throughout her careers, her motivation has been to help people. She feels she gets her strength from the Lord. Mary feels glad when, years later, someone whom she has helped comes up to her and thanks her for the assistance and kindness she provided to them.

In the past several years as a resident of Palm Glades Apartments, she noticed that the children were getting into fights while they were waiting for the school bus. In response, Ms. Walker organized and participated in a successful "parent watch" program.

She describes herself as a follower who often gets thrust into the role of leader, as her peers know that she is the kind of person who feels "she needs to do something" when she sees problems in her community. John Corbett, the new CEO of the Palm Glades Community Development Corporation, was impressed by Ms. Walker and asked her to serve as head of the tenants association where she has served for the past several months.

Ms. Walker devotes many hours weekly of her time for the betterment of others. In her words, she "works a lot without getting paid." Ms. Walker impresses all who know her as a kind, dedicated, and an extremely sincere individual. She says she "hopes to get the community working together, to change the attitudes of the people, and to create a better place to live."

I wanted to honor Ms. Walker in this column this week, because I believe she embodies much of the positive attitude, willingness, and hopefulness that I often espouse and write about.

Currently unemployed, she hopes to get a job with the school board so she can work, and also have time with her children. All her dreams have not yet come true. In spite of that fact, she is still a vibrant dedicated person who strives to help herself and to help others. She is a role model as a committed and positive person. Ms. Walker, thank you for the efforts you make in others' behalf.

All of us would do well to heed her credo "when we see problems around us or in our own lives: We need to do something!"

Man killed while crossing State Road 715

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

A Belle Glade man died after being struck by a pick-up truck Feb. 2 while attempting to cross State Road 715 at the corner of N.W. Avenue F Place, Belle Glade.

Juan Carlos Gomez, 32, was hit while crossing the road by a pick-up truck driven by Christopher Ingram, 28, of Pahokee. An ambulance took Mr. Gomez to Glades General Hospital. Emergency personnel administered care to the critically injured man on the way to the hospital, but he died en route.

Police say Mr. Gomez, who was crossing the street with a friend, ran in front of Mr. Ingram's truck.

Degree completion program to be offered in Belle Glade

Palm Beach Atlantic College will bring its non-traditional bachelor's degree completion program to Belle Glade beginning Feb. 20.

Designed for adults who have already completed about two years of college, the Management of Human Resources (MHR) accelerated degree program will meet in weekly evening sessions on the Palm Beach Community College Belle Glade campus. Call 1-800-281-3466 for information, or in Hendry or Glades Counties, call 407-895-4303.

"We find that many adults kick themselves for not sticking it out when they were first in college," said Gordon Eisenman, dean of the MacArthur School of Continuing Education at Palm Beach Atlantic College. "Now, with the demands of full-time employment and families, they feel that they have missed their opportunity."

"We can show them that it's not too late; that an adult can perform a job and finish a degree quickly and conveniently," he added. Because it combines class sessions with credit for life experience, the MHR program can be completed in about a year.

Hundreds of students who now hold bachelor's degrees in Management of Human Resources say the MHR curriculum is relevant to many career fields. "They enjoyed the seminar-style classes with other adults and say the schedule while challenging - is manageable. And age is no barrier, one 1993 graduate was in his seventies."

Palm Beach Atlantic also offers this non-traditional program at its main campus in West Palm Beach and at sites in Hobe Sound, Boca Raton and Wellington. The MHR program carries the same accreditation as traditional undergraduate degrees. (Palm Beach Atlantic College is accredited by the Commission on Schools of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award bachelor's and master's degrees. Palm Beach Atlantic College is a comprehensive liberal arts college in downtown West Palm Beach with an enrollment of about 1,900. PBA offers bachelor's and master's degrees in traditional and non-traditional formats.

GFC names new vice chairman

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission named Julie Morris to replace Dr. Quinton Hedgepeth as chairman and Mrs. Gilbert W. Humphrey as vice chairman.

Mrs. Morris, coordinator of environmental studies at the University of South Florida/New College, has served on the commission since Sept. 1990. She is the commission's immediate past vice chairman. Mrs. Humphrey has served on the commission since 1994. During Friday's meeting in Tallahassee, the commission adopted a rule to open the Osceola Wildlife Management Area's Pinhook portion to bearded turkey or gobbler hunting during spring turkey season. Turkeys already are legal game in the remainder of the area.

The commission also heard staff reports concerning Preservation 2,000 land purchases, legislative matters, land management in the Type I wildlife management area system and the appearance of a new strain of birds in Florida.

In addition, the commission gave conceptual approval of regulation changes to be considered for final adoption in March.

One proposal would authorize the use of non-steel arrow points for bowhunters. A new-type arrow point made of ceramic material has proved to be as effective as steel, and some bowhunters also have stressed an interest in making and using their own primitive stone arrowheads. Both would be legal for hunting if the rule is passed.

South Bay Growers salad processing plant sold to Taylor Fresh Foods

U.S. Sugar Corporation recently announced it has sold the former South Bay Growers salad processing plant to Taylor Fresh Foods, Inc. Taylor Fresh Foods is a new company formed by four partners with varied interests in North American agriculture. The company is headed by Bruce Taylor of Salinas, Calif., who was formerly chief executive officer of Fresh Express, the nation's largest grower of fresh cut vegetables and packaged salads.

Mr. Taylor took over operation of the South Bay facility immediately and indicated he will retain most of the current employees and the South Bay name. He said, "Our first goal is to focus on taking care of the excellent customers and employees who have made the South Bay Growers salad processing plant the pre-eminent vegetable processor in Florida. Over the next two years, our plans call for adding new prepared fresh vegetable products, and we would expect to meet the production and employment at the facility."

J. Nelson Fairbanks, president and chief executive officer of U.S. Sugar, praised Mr. Taylor and said, "Of the many people we talked with who expressed an interest in the South Bay facility, Mr. Taylor held the strongest desire consistent with what we wanted to accomplish in the community."

Jerry Grace, senior vice president of U.S. Sugar and former chief operating officer at South Bay Growers, said one of the most important aspects of the sale was the loyal support received from the salad plant's customer base during the search for a buyer.

"McDonald's, for whom South Bay is a major regional supplier of salads, stuck with us during the search and shared our concerns about the community and the employment of people in the area," Mr. Grace said. "They and the other customers are already working with the buyer to continue their long-standing relationships."

Mr. Fairbanks said the sale is an important benchmark of the almost seven months of efforts by U.S. Sugar to rejuvenate the economy of South Bay and the surrounding farming communities following the closing of South Bay Growers last July.

"We made a promise back in July, that we would not walk away from our employees or from the City of South Bay," said Mr. Fairbanks. "We believe Bruce Taylor and the other business people who have announced their operations in South Bay will make a substantial contribution to the area's economy."

U.S. Sugar had continued operation of the salad plant last summer when it closed down South Bay Growers, its vegetable growing and processing subsidiary due to severe financial losses. Approximately 1,300 people lost their jobs. U.S. Sugar kept the operation in the hopes of finding a buyer who would maintain the jobs of local people.

The salad plant sale followed the announcement of two business enterprises at the former South Bay facility. The South Bay Growers packinghouse will re-open this month with a sweet corn and vegetable distribution business and the central warehouse building was sold to become a sugarcane mechanical harvester assembly plant. Those operations will support more than 500 jobs in the Glades farming area.

BLOOD FACTS

Platelets obtained through apheresis (fuh-'ree-sis) donation help prevent serious bleeding problems. The pheresis donation process is somewhat different. A needle is inserted in each of the donor's arms. Blood flows through a plastic tubing and into a centrifuge where it is spun until it separates into its components. Platelets, which live only five days, are collected and the remaining portion of the blood returns to the donor through a needle in the other arm.

If you're looking for a unique way to entertain, invite the whole family over for a Dump Meal. In just an hour you can serve 15-20 people a truly delicious meal that is simple to prepare. No one goes home hungry, and there is very little cleanup.

The Great American Country Boil is called the "Dump" because the entire five gallons of food is dumped onto a table covered with newspapers.

- |                                     |                               |

| 3-4 lbs. kielbasa                   | 2 bags crab boils (seasoning) |
| 2 lbs. small onions                 | 1-1/2 cobs of corn per person |
| 1/4 to 1/2 lb. snow peas (optional) | Enough water to cover         |
| 1 lb. carrots                       | Salt & pepper to taste        |

Gator Tales

Glades Day School formally dedicated its new cafeteria Monday, Jan. 30, with a salute to Belle Glade resident LaRue Tripp, owner of Tripp Construction. Named "Tripp Hall" in honor of Mr. Tripp's generous contributions, financially as well as physically, to the construction of the cafeteria as well as the rest of the new buildings on campus.

Glades Day School's band students had a special treat when they were featured at the South Florida Fair Jan. 27-28. Under the direction of Chris Owens, the advanced band students performed for the crowd Friday, Jan. 27, and then the intermediate band displayed their talents on Saturday. After the performances, the students had plenty of free time to enjoy the sights and sounds of the fair.

About 40 eighth and ninth graders were also thrilled when they were invited to attend one of the Super Bowl's NFL Huddles at Pioneer Park in Belle Glade Jan. 25. NFL players Lewis Oliver and Jeff Cross, along with area varsity football players, held group discussions and demonstrated some of the finer skills of football to the approximately 300 Glades-area students.

Glades Day congratulates seventh grader, Eleanor Campbell, who won eighth place in the social studies section of West Area's academic games. Eleanor is one of several students competing in this year's academic games competition.

The seventh and eighth grade students are excited this week as they await the Student Council's Junior High dance to be held.

CITY OF WEST PALM BEACH HOUSING DEVELOPMENT DIVISION
NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

AVAILABILITY OF HOUSING OPPORTUNITIES FOR PERSONS WITH AIDS
(HOPWA) PROGRAM FUNDS FOR FISCAL YEAR 1995-96
AND REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

The City of West Palm Beach, as grantee, for the Palm Beach County Eligible Metropolitan Area (EMA) has been allocated a $1,552,000 grant entitlement under the Housing Opportunities For Persons With AIDS (HOPWA) program for fiscal year 1994-95. The HOPWA program was authorized by the National Affordable Housing Act to provide states and localities with resources and incentives to devise long-term comprehensive strategies for meeting the housing needs of persons with Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome (AIDS) and related diseases.

The Palm Beach County EMA includes the municipalities of Palm Beach County, Boca Raton, Delray Beach in addition to the City. As the grant administrator, the City will utilize three percent, $46,560, of the HOPWA grant allocation to offset operational and administrative expenses. The balance of $1,505,440 plus the returned funds of $366,535 from the FY 93-94 grant, is available for HOPWA programs and services. The total funds available for proposal consideration is $1,871,975 for FY 95-96.

Proposals are solicited in the below listed eligible activity categories which were prioritized, based on needs identified in the 1994 Assessment of Needs For AIDS Services in Palm Beach County and were endorsed by the City's HOPWA Ad Hoc committee. The amount allocated to each eligible activity category is the total amount available for proposal consideration under that activity category. The following is a list of the activity categories and the funding allocated to each:

Activity Category	Amount Allocated
Lease.....	$374,395
Operating Costs.....	$280,796
Supportive Services Associated With Housing.....	$374,395
Supportive Services Not Associated With Housing.....	$ 74,879
Resources Identification.....	$ 18,720
Rental Assistance.....	$374,395
Short Term Rent, Mortgage, & Utility Payments.....	$374,395

Agencies eligible to apply are those whose clientele includes individuals and families affected by AIDS or related diseases and who can administer the proposed program and/or support services in compliance with all applicable local, state and federal regulations.

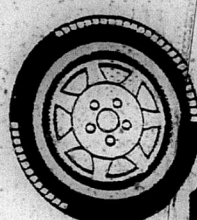

HOPWA information packets will include a detailed description of the activity categories and may be picked up at the HCD Office between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, on the second floor in City Hall, 200 2nd Street. All interested parties are invited to a proposer's workshop to be held on February 24, 1995 at the West Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce. R.S.V.P. by calling the HCD Office at 659-8032.

Proposals must be submitted to the RCD Office no later than March 17, 1995 by 5:00 p.m. The proposal deadline and time will be scrupulously observed. The HOPWA Committee reserves the right to reject any or all proposals.
